SUMMARY

A close friend introduced me to programming, and that moment sparked a passion I didn't know I had. Since then, I've been teaching myself from the ground up—driven by curiosity and a genuine love for learning. Along the way, I've built strong skills in HTML, SCSS, JavaScript, and React. One of my favorite projects was creating a portfolio for a professional dancer, which made me realize how much I enjoy bringing ideas to life through code. What started as a curiosity has turned into something I truly love and see as a long-term path.
